Gas Grill Safety Guidelines

- Liquid Propane (LP) is an odorless gas. Ethyl Mercaptan is an ingredient added to propane, which permits it to have an odor. The added ingredient allows the user to recognize that the propane cylinder is leaking. A “rotten egg” smell indicates a gas leak.
- Always follow the manufacturer’s instructions when connecting or disconnecting a gas grill.
- Clean grill after use as part of general safety and maintenance on a gas grill, so to ensure refund of $25 deposit.
- Check tubes leading to burners for any form of blockage. Check hoses for cracks, leaks or brittleness. Ensure that there are no sharp bends in hoses. The Village Parks & Recreation will inspect grills after each use, but please alert staff upon return of any possible cracks or leaks in hoses.
- Make certain that propane cylinder you provide for use used does not have any dents, gouges, bulges, and leaks, fire damage or rust. Cylinders should be replaced if any of these signs are evident.
- All open flames including cigarettes are required to be kept a minimum of 25’ away from gas grill.
- Make certain that the propane cylinder has an over-fill prevention device, and always store propane cylinders in a secured upright position.
- Do not store propane cylinder in a hot car or area that can be exposed to high heat. High temperatures will force the gas pressure to increase and possibly open the relief valve – filling the area with gas.
 - Always make certain that the control knobs for the gas grills are in the OFF position prior to igniting and when storing grill. When grill is not in use, knob on propane cylinder should be in the OFF position as well.
- If gas grill fails to light on first attempt, turn the burner control off and allow the gas to dissipate prior to trying again.
- If the fire on the burners of a gas grill goes out during cooking, turn all of the knobs to the OFF position. Open lid and wait five minutes before attempting to relight.
- Always start gas grills with the lid in the open position. Gas can collect if the lid is down which can create an explosion when grill is lit.
- Use grill in our well-ventilated area – our designated grilling area is outside the rear of the pavilion overhead door (to the right of the women’s restroom).
